Ling 220 HW 2 – due January 30

Complete Payne exercises 2.5, 2.7, and 2.11. Be sure to read my notes/instructions below, which may include additional problems or modification to the directions in the book, as well as information to help you solve the problems.

Exercise 2.5E
In addition to A-D, write process rules for all 3 possessive forms (my, your, and his).

Exercise 2.7
In order to solve this problem, you need a little information about Samoan syllable structure. Syllables may be composed of a vowel only (represented as V) or of a consonant followed by a vowel (CV). In Samoan orthography, every vowel letter represents a vowel sound, and every vowel is part of a different syllable.

For B, write a process rule instead of “describing the rule as explicitly as you can.”
